

Terms and conditions of participation in the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna

Participants hereby declare that they are in agreement with 1) the Code of conduct set out below, 2) the Rights to the results of their work and 3) the Use of personal Data.

By participating in the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna, participants are deemed to have read and accepted the terms and conditions of the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna (November 16th – 18th, 2018) of the F10 FinTech Accelerator & Incubator (thereafter “F10”).

1. Code of conduct

Participants:

- I. shall, in relation to programming prototypes etc., refrain from creating any content that could be considered illegal and/or obscene, offensive, defamatory, indecent, pornographic, unsuitable, racist, xenophobic or in any other way objectionable in line with general moral standards and/or according to the decision of F10 or that would/could damage the reputation of the sponsors. Furthermore, any content created through programming cannot involve any commercial content or content that could cause damage to other parties, e.g. viruses, trojan horses, spyware, phishing solicitations or instructions on creating such content.
- II. shall refrain from accessing, storing (saving) and sending content or data with illegal, copyright-infringing, sexist, racist, offensive or otherwise objectionable ideologies. Paid-for content may not be accessed. Access to websites and other systems may be restricted or refused.
- III. must clearly reference all sources/source materials when presenting the results.
- IV. shall comply with the house rules in force at the event location as well as any instructions given by the organizers on location.
- V. shall neither enter nor use any rooms, installations or systems at the event location that are not intended to be used as part of the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna.
- VI. are prepared to present the results of their work at the end of the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna in plenary and in front of a jury.

- VII. assume responsibility for any damage they cause to the premises, installations and systems at the event location. In this respect and to the extent permitted by law, F10 declines all liability.
- VIII. agree to return or irreversibly destroy any working materials provided by F10 and the sponsors.

In the event of a breach of this code of conduct, F10 reserves the right to remove or exclude participant(s) and or team(s) from the F10 FinTech Hackathon without providing any further reason.

F10 reserves the right to assert claims for damages and/or amends or to initiate criminal proceedings.

2. Rights to results of work

Participants hereby agree that both they and the sponsors may use, further develop and, in particular, exploit the results of participants' work from the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna. It is possible for participants and the sponsors to each make further use of the results of their work either alone or as part of a future partnership/temporary change of function. However, neither party has any claim to a future partnership/temporary change of function. If F10 or sponsors act alone in making further use of the results of participants' work, they will not owe participants any reimbursement or remuneration in this respect.

3. Use of personal Data

Participants consent that F10 and its sponsors will use and store the provided personal data for communication related to the F10 FinTech Hackathon Vienna as well as upcoming programs and events of F10 and its sponsors. Furthermore, participants consent that F10 and its sponsors will screen and store provided CVs for potential job offers.

Zurich (Switzerland), August 22nd 2018